

SM*SISANDA MANJANJA*IT GRADUATE

OBJECTIVE

I am a fresh Information Technology Graduate specializing in Software development with a diploma that was obtained from the Nelson Mandela University. I would say I am a very self-motivated and hardworking individual. In my five years spent in University I have developed good interpersonal skills and having worked with students in group activities I have managed to sharpen my communication and people skills to the point of perfection to such an extent that I thrive in teamwork. Having had some experience in the service industry introduced me to a new environment where I was trained to thrive in fast paced environments and to not succumb to pressure but rather use it as motivation to display my capabilities and I indeed exceeded in that but now as a Graduate free from any preconceived workplace ideologies I am looking to start my journey in the IT workspace and to be developed and molded into one of the highest performing individual of any company that is willing to give an opportunity to start my journey
